35th World Championship Held in Montana!

Our 35th Championship is scheduled for July 9th, 2005 in the Kootenai National Forest near Libby, Montana. This will be the first Ride & Tie Championship to be held outside of California since the 29th Championship held in Klamath Falls, Oregon in 1999. Prior to 1999, Championships have been held in Idaho, Utah, and Nevada in addition to the many races in California.

Ride & Tie Association President, Don Betts, reports that the race committee will be inspecting the trail to determine the difficulty and distance for the 2005 race. The race committee will be designing a course about 35 miles long that can be won in about four hours. With a new site, base altitude, overall elevation gain, and course ruggedness are assessed prior to setting the race distance. "It's ride and tie tradition to move the Ride & Tie World Championship at least every couple years. By varying the terrain, different running and riding skills come into play. Flatter, faster courses favor different teams than the more rugged courses" explains Betts. "We are hoping that the race, which has been returned to its mid summer scheduling, will once again become the family event it was in Ride & Tie's earlier days. The camping area will be available for camping prior to the Championship events. The area is rich in natural beauty, activities and opportunities for vacationing."

Race site director Mary Beth Alkire

describes "a challenging course with excellent footing for the horses." An experienced endurance ride manager, Alkire looks forward to hosting the Ride & Tie World Championship. "We hope competitors who are hauling their horses from out of state will make a vacation of it.

It's a great opportunity for local runners and equestrians excited to have the chance to compete in a World Championship right here in Montana."

In the past couple of years teams have come from Australia, Germany and Spain leasing local horses in order to represent their countries at the Ride & Tie World Championship. Race organizers hope to see more international teams in 2005, with teams from Austria, Brazil and England showing early interest. "With the big race open to all who wish to enter, it's a great opportunity for first time competitors from the neighboring states of Idaho, Washington and Wyoming as well as western Canada to try their hand at this great sport" invites Ride & Tie president Don Betts.

PACIFIC CREST RIDE AND TIE SETS NEW FASHION TREND

By Annette Parsons

Southern Oregon's Pacific Crest Ride and Tie is the best kept secret in Ride and Tie! This is unfortunate for those of you who missed it on July 3, as it is a lovely and easy 25 mile course, with excellent weather, great awards, and lots of fun. This year, we had two teams for the sanctioned 25-mile Pro-Am event, and one team for the 10-mile fun Ride and Tie.

Jim Clover, from the Applegate Valley in southern Oregon, and Steve Anderson of Santa Clara, California are no wimps! They both competed in the 34th Annual World Ride and Tie Championship at Ft. Bragg, California just the weekend before the Pacific Crest race, as did Jim's horse, "Bones". But that did not deter them from going for it again the following Saturday, July 3. They won, with a time of about 4 hours and 15 minutes. Jim and Bones have competed in many Ride and Ties, including 11 and 7 championships, respectively, an impressive record. Jim is now 62, and Bones is 17, and they are both still going strong! Steve has had the Ride and Tie fever since his first race in 1995.

Dennis Groh in loin cloth with Cinder at Pacific Crest Ride & Tie

Their competition was the Pro-Am woman-woman team of Elizabeth Schaefer, a long-time Ride and Tier from Ashland, Oregon, and Ginny Brown, a newcomer to Ride and Tie but a long-time awesome ultra runner, also from Oregon. They rode Elizabeth's horse, Cruz. This was Cruz's first sanctioned Ride and Tie, his only other experience being a Ride and Tie clinic held in the Applegate Valley in June. After his initial escape at the starting line, when one of the AERC riders caught him for Lizabee and Ginny, they had a good first 8 miles or so. They ended up getting separated in a network of trails and wound up with a non-finish....but true to her positive spirit, Lizabee declared they still had a great time and she accomplished her goal of getting Cruz some more experience at Ride and Tie.

Our new Ride and Tie Association president Don Betts was another hard-core Ride and Tier who stopped by to compete at the Pacific Crest Ride and Tie on his return trip to his home in Washington after competing at Ft. Bragg the previous weekend. Don teamed up with Ride and Tie newcomer, Dennis Grow, a horseshoer from Wilderville, Oregon. Don and Dennis did the 10-mile course, and had a great time on Don's horse Cinder. They turned more than a few heads as they raced through the grounds of the Lily Glen Horse Camp during the event, as Dennis sported a loin-cloth, the latest in Ride and Tie attire! Perhaps instead of t-shirts next year at the championship the Association should sell loin cloths with the Ride and Tie logo? Hmmmm....where would the logo be placed?

All in all, everyone had a great time. We were just wishing we could have shared our fun with more of you Ride and Tiers out there. So mark your calendars for next year and come up and see what this Pacific Northwest Ride and Tie hospitality is all about! And don't forget your loin cloth! Maybe we'll have a special award category!

BEGINNER'S LUCK

By Dan Moores

It wasn't long after opening Auburn Running Company in February, 2004 that I began to realize our customer base also included horse riders. Expecting to service only runners and walkers, it was nice to know there was another segment of the market that we could rely upon to help us get through our first year. My other false assumption was that they must all be Tevis Cup competitors, since I had not heard of a Ride & Tie, that is until Dave and Beth Van Wicklin came in the store one day and set me straight. As a kid growing up on a small farm in Wisconsin we owned three horses, but despite never learning to ride very well, I always felt comfortable around them and the idea of running and riding in a race sounded like fun. So, being the generous folks they are, Dave and Beth extended an offer to partner at the Gold Country Ride & Tie in Georgetown with Jazz, their 10 year old Arabian, and the stage was set. After a few training sessions on the Olmstead Loop in Cool and portions of the Western States trail in Foresthill without me falling off, we felt ready for a run at the top ten, provided Jim Howard or Tom Johnson didn't show up to spoil the fun.

As it did for runners at the Western States 100, unseasonably mild weather prevailed on race day, which helped take off some of the nervous edge of not doing well in the heat. Since our strategy was for Dave to hold the horse each time he caught up with me, my only worries were not to get lost or lose the horse. The race would start with Dave in the saddle and me on foot, and because the rules allowed the first tie to be a hand-off, his daughter Tracy positioned herself about a quarter mile down the trail so my first mount would be quick and easy. Pulling out an early lead, I quickly spotted horse and crew just ahead and thought how simple the exchange would be, but the other runners were soon treated to a chaotic scene of Tracie and Jazz spinning around while I struggled to get my right foot in the stirrup. Dave had commented to the other teams in the pre-race meeting that I was a beginner rider, and they must have thought we didn't disappoint them.

But that was about the only obstacle to an otherwise smooth race as Dave and I quickly distanced ourselves from the competition, maximizing our running skills with his riding ability. By the mandatory vet check at the halfway, we had garnered a 10 minute lead. That would stretch to 29 minutes by race's end, although the last several miles seemed to stretch out as I began anticipating the finish line around every false summit and bend in the trail. But it finally came, with Dave backtracking so we could cross the line together. After my wife stopped laughing at the sight of me on a horse, we took some pictures and I reflected on a very fun and unique day. As with my first endurance run, the Ride & Tie bug had bit, and now there's talk of doing the championship next year. But first, someone needs to tell Jim Howard that I'm a beginner...

IN MEMORY OF BERNICE KALLAND

By Lee Anne Waggoner

Bernice Marie Kalland of Castaic, California passed away on May 7, 2004. Born May 28, 1922, Bernice was a third generation pioneer of the Los Angeles area. Her greatest accomplishments include being a champion endurance rider, winning many 25, 50, and 100 mile horse races. A strong supporter of Ride & Tie events, Bernice once said that the only thing she "didn't like about Ride & Ties is the running part." She left the running up to others but was extremely proud of Mouse, her Ride & Tie world champion, and they continued to "head down the trail" until shortly before her death. Bernice proudly served as a U.S. Marine during WWII and retired from the U.S. Postal Service. She also enjoyed photography and spending time with her family and friends at her Oak Park home, which was homesteaded by her family in 1860. Bernice died from complications following a stroke. A memorial celebration for Bernice was held in November with several ride and tiers in attendance. To contact the family call 720-838-7356.

Bernice and Rush Creek Majic (Mouse) completed their last ride together at the Hog Wild Poker Ride 3 weeks prior to her death.

FROM THE PRESIDENT, DON BETTS

Mark your calendar on July 9th, 2005 for the 35th Annual Ride And Tie Championship. It will be held in Libby, Montana in the Kootenai National Forest. The Kootenai Forest is a gorgeous part of America and you will really enjoy the trails.

My apologies to the race directors whose events conflict with the Championship dates. July 9th was selected because it will allow families to vacation with their children, and it is midway between the Tevis and Western States and the race site was not available after the first of August.

In subsequent issues of the Ride & Tie Newsletter we will have information on Libby, Montana and the surrounding area. We will also be offering information on where you might stay while traveling there with your horses. Now that you have your new Membership Directory you may be able to find people in your area to travel with or possibly haul your horse for you. It's a great directory. It was a very long time coming. I hope you are finding it useful.

I want to mention how grateful the Ride and Tie Association is for all the volunteers, especially Carol Ruprecht and Steve Anderson who have been so helpful this past year.

My wife, Annie, and I will be the Event Coordinators for the upcoming Championship. Since we have never attempted putting on an event this large, we will certainly need your help and comments. If you can help or have any suggestions, please let us know.

Gavilan, (pictured here with the Riffle boys at Cascade Challenge R&T in 2003) number four horse in ride & tie miles died last September from anaphylactic shock following a penicillin injection. Gavilan was in 32 R & T races, including 13 Championships. People who raced with Gavilan include: Dave and Curt Riffle, Lisa Preston, Julie O'Haver-Schlich, Les Nightingil, Tim Hinrichs, Lupe De La Fuente, Jane Margulis, Lanny Brown, Annie Betts, Bill Mintiens, Russ Kiernan, Martina Kyle and, of course, the team of George Hall and Don Betts. We will all miss him. Don and Annie Betts

THANK YOU VOLUNTEERS

By Lari Shea

I would like to send end-of-the-year greetings and a big Thank You! to the many folks who helped make the 2004 World Ride & Tie Championships in Mendocino such a great event. First and foremost, thanks to hubby Harvey and daughter Kyala, as well as son Rafferty and friends ranging from Jan from NYC, Jim & Lea, Delos and David from the SF area, and dozens of locals who had never even heard of Ride & Tie, but soon volunteered dozens of hours per. Stacey Bradley was my main trails guru. Linwood Gill and the Parker and Jackson families gave us permission to ride over their lands, and helped us designate and map trails. Mary Wells, whose late husband Fred competed in the very first R&T, did a fabulous job collecting many thousands of dollars worth of donated awards, as well as ordering others in multiple categories for six events.

I particularly thank our generous sponsors, led by Lisa at Moss Rock Endurance, who donated a Free 'n Easy Saddle for Best Conditioned Horse in the Championships. Henry Griffen came through as he always does, with two beautiful horse blankets for 1st Place in both the Championships and the 50 Mile Endurance. Dozens of other sponsors made this one of the most lavish events ever. I personally thank Forrest Tancer of Iron Horse Winery for donating the priceless magnums of champagne with hand etched logos created by T-shirt design donator, Leona Walden of Pacific Ridge Advertising. Curt Riffle, Steve Shaw, Carol Ruprecht, Steve Anderson, Beth Van Wicklen, and most particularly, former race director Laura Christoff offered invaluable help. Head vet, Jim Steere, with wife D'Anne, were a pleasure to work with, as always. Dave Clappet and his ham radio guys are unsung heroes.

I also want to thank the ten Ricochet Ridge Ranch horses who took 18 riders through the various events..... all the riders took fantastic care of their leased critters, and I heartily recommend them to other owners for future events. I've been leasing horses for the Championships since 1982, with only one adverse experience (personal, ..... all the horses came through just fine!)... and I'm happy to offer advice or recommendations for folks considering leasing horses for Ride & Tie. I won't be able to attend next year's championship event, but I wish Don and his crew the very best of luck!
